Extuity Unveiled: New Theory of Time Reveals the Science Behind Human Phenomena

SUBHEADLINE

A groundbreaking theory connects physics, biology and psychology to solve human mysteries like gut feelings, love at first sight and the Mandela effect.

[United Kingdom, August 15, 2025] – Where Newton revealed gravity and Einstein revealed relativity, an obscure connection between physics, biology and psychology reveals extuity, a hidden mechanism that allows emotions to transcend time¹.

It is the first and only scientific framework that answers widely accepted yet unexplained human phenomena — gut feelings, coincidence, love at first sight, deja vu, the Mandela effect... — caused by measurable energetic interactions (psychologically translated into emotions) across time, similar to gravity acting across space. The Extuity Formula quantifies these connections, moving these experiences from mystery into testable science.

WHY IT MATTERS

For centuries, humanity has experienced phenomena that defy conventional explanation. Extuity reframes these events not as mystical curiosities but as predictable outcomes of time's energetic structure. This has implications for psychology, everyday decision-making, and our fundamental understanding of reality.

OFFICIAL THEORY

"All emotions radiate outwards from the point in time it is experienced and can be felt at any other point in time, with an energy proportional to the strength of the emotion and inversely proportional to the distance of time between them."

¹EVIDENCE STATUS

Experienced Effects: ✓ Yes — Widely reported human accounts across cultures and history

Lab Detection: ✓ Yes — HeartMath Institute's pre-stimulus emotional response studies

Underlying Mechanism: ✗ Not yet — "Biological Quantum Entanglement" indicated, requires confirmation

ABOUT THE FOUNDER

Hakeem Javaid, founder of Extuity, spent years investigating moments that defied logic. Known for combining creative vision with logical analysis, he uncovered a scientific framework that reveals how emotions bridge past, present, and future, and the hidden influence they have always had on our lives.
